TRIESTE

25X1

1. On 20 March, 1948, the US, UK and France jointly declared that the entire territory (Zones A and B) should be returned to Italy.

2. Last year the Italian government unofficially encouraged riots on 20 March.

3. Whether or not the Italian government encourages the riots this year, depends on the progress of the negotiations with Yugoslavia on Trieste.

4. The Italian government is now more willing to make concessions because it wants a favorable solution before the late May elections. Belgrade agreement on the Italian terms is unlikely.

5. De Gasperi needs some favorable development to counteract irredentist propaganda from the right, the increasing strength of which jeopardizes his party's chances in the election.

[REDACTED]

6. At present, Yugoslavia administers Zone B. The Western allies, with Italian participation, administer Zone A.

7. Italy and Yugoslavia agree on a final solution based roughly on the present division, but certain small strips of territory are in dispute.
